COMPARATIVE LITERATURE MAJOR HONORS

The Comparative Literature Honors program offers excellent students a variation of the major designed to engage them in work commensurate with their abilities. Honors students in the Comparative Literature major will take nine (9) units of electives rather than the (6) units Comparative Literature majors ordinarily take. Six (6) of these nine (9) units will be in upper division courses appropriate for their field of interest. Honors Students must maintain an A- grade point average and successfully complete an Honors Thesis (CLT 498 [if offered] or CLT 499). The Honors variation of the major consists of 39 upper-division units; the standard major consists of 33 upper division units.

Generally, students will apply to this program in their junior year after they have completed at least nine (9) units of lower-division preparation for the major and nine (9) units of upper-division major requirements with a 3.7 major GPA and 3.5 overall GPA.

Successful completion of the English honors program will be recognized at graduation.

For information on the Comparative Literature Honors program, please see the undergraduate adviser.
